

TOO BIG TO FIGHT

On two separate occasions I had to drive across this country, for a distance of about 2,000 miles. It was a three-day trip each time. Obviously I had to eat. Theoretically I could have stopped at the first restaurant which came along and consumed the equivalent of nine meals. That would have sufficed the journey, and would have saved time, not having to stop for food again. This, however, would prove folly; it would make me ill. Once my stomach emptied, I'd grow hungry again.

The pursuit of truth is akin to a long road-trip... seventy years or more. We can't take on all we will need at the first restaurant. Truth is static, but being nourished by it evolves. A baby can't digest beef-Bourgignon washed down with a good vintage claret. The early miles will see us stopping at a milk-bar. Further along, we'll try some porridge, maybe with applesauce. Before long a hamburger will go down well. The problem is, if the first hamburger is at one of the big fast-food joints, we might get hooked on them. They put something in them to ignite a craving for more, but nutritionally it's garbage. It is, however, cheap; and it tastes good.

So far on my journey, I have had a few meals at "five-star" restaurants. It sure wasn't anything like Fast-Food Bill's. The food in these establishments is unlike anything I've tasted... ingredients I've never heard of, exquisitely prepared, and presentation qualifying for a work of art. But there are two problems with this royal feasting. It is very expensive indeed; and, after a few meals, you'll never be satisfied with dog 'n fries again.

I described one of my five-star meals to a friend; or should I say, I "tried" to describe it. He was a simple guy who believed a greasy chili-dog with cheese was the apex of culinary achievement. After I told him about my meal he said, "how could you put something like that in your mouth?" The very same thing can be said about truth, and trying to explain it to others. The common reaction to some of the greatest truths - the "mysteries" if you will - is, "You've got to be nuts... you believe that stuff? That's the dumbest thing I ever heard." But I have discovered a most important key... it's all in the presentation. Here's what I mean...

My late Uncle Bob used to tell me, when I was little, that the moon was made of green cheese. He did it for fun, and I always laughed. What if I told you - adult to adult - that the moon was made of green cheese, and did it with all sincerity? You'd tell me I was nuts. Okay; but what if I told you this?... samples of moon-rock retrieved from the last lunar space-mission have been tested at the NASA labs, and were found to have a molecular structure the same as that of cheese. Also, when they were subjected to ultra-violet light, they glowed a bright green. What now? You'd probably believe me. PRESENTATION... one way I'm nuts; the other way, "Boy, you really have some neat information." But either way, it's green cheese!

In this paper I will present a green cheese subject. Here's how Uncle Bob would present it: "THE WHOLE WORLD IS CONTROLLED BY A HANDFUL OF PEOPLE - THIRTEEN FAMILIES - AND WE ARE ALL THEIR PUPPETS!" What do you think of that? "You're nuts!" Okay; now, here's how I would present it.

First, a disclaimer: although I study the Bible, and have strong faith in the Creator, I am not a Bible-thumper, nor am I "religious". Out of respect for serious thinkers, I will refrain from Bibling this paper; other than to quote the odd Scripture here and there, if necessary. This will not be what you'd hear at Sunday-school.

A serious thinker once told me, "the Great Wall of China became a reality because somebody placed blocks, one at a time, in a row". As a foundation, I have three blocks to place on the ground. Block 1 - I believe there are two opposing forces which, for now, hold sway on planet earth. I'll call the one "Good", and the other "Evil". I use these terms, first because they are most familiar to the readers in a consistent light; and secondly, because other terms are encumbered with their own problems ("Black" and "White" are politically incorrect now, for example). So "Good" and "Evil" it will be. Block 2 - I believe Good has all power; indeed IS all power, and only power... like a mighty wind. I don't worship an old bearded man in a big chair. And Good has, for a finite time, and specific purpose, apportioned a piece of His power to Evil. I base this on my study of the Bible. Here's one of the pertinent quotes I forewarned of...

"ALL THIS POWER I (Evil) WILL GIVE THEE, AND THE GLORY OF THEM ('them' being 'all the nations of the earth'): FOR THAT ('that' being the 'power' and the 'glory') IS DELIVERED UNTO ME (by Good); AND WHOMSOEVER I WILL (choose to share it with) I GIVE IT."

And here's one more...

"AND ALL THAT DWELL UPON THE EARTH (with a small designated exception) SHALL WORSHIP HIM ('Evil', as a result of what he was able to do with the power delivered to him)."
(Revelation 13:8)

The power Good delivered to Evil became the first link in a chain of power-sharing. And Block 3 - I believe Evil was able to produce offspring on the earth. He did it in two ways. He had convinced a large number of other-dimensional beings to side with him in an attempt to overthrow Good. His attempt failed, resulting in him (with his cohorts) being expelled into this physical dimension. Here, some of his cohorts bred with human females who bare them physical offspring of Evil. Secondly, he personally, through a human offspring of Good, sired a son known as Cain. The progeny of Cain therefore, are the offspring of Evil. Both of these genetic offspring lines (the hybrid crosses of the cohorts of Evil, with the daughters of men; and the progeny of Cain) continue to reproduce physically on the earth today. This, of course, is how I see these things, based on my study of the Bible, and other sources, both religious and secular.

Further (in Block #3), Good also begat offspring on the earth. They are the very breath of the mighty wind, but that breath inhabits physical bodies in order to function in this physical dimension. They were placed here by Good as a preparatory necessity, prior to returning permanently to their original dimension with Good. And that necessary preparation has to do with refinement - "perfection", if you will - which can only take place in a physical plane. I believe that until the process is completed, the breath will return in another physical body after the death of the current one. The offspring of Evil are necessary in the perfection of the offspring of Good.

These three blocks form the foundation for what I will present.

This paper won't be everyone's cup of tea. Of necessity, it's a rather lengthy offering. Some of the necessary trails might get a bit tedious, but I have tried to be concise. Nevertheless, every mouse deserves his treat at the end of the maze. I hope the reward at the end of this one befits your investment of time and effort. Knowledge - truth clarified - is the best reward. But I would never mislead a reader. The knowledge you may glean from this paper will not be the cheeriest. Knowing this, if you are still up for it, let's go.

For the sake of brevity, I will skip the anti-diluvian to early post-diluvian history of our planet; other than to assure you that Evil shared his delivered power with whom he chose from the time human footprints hit the dirt. There have always been leaders and followers. Reaching great heights, attractive by their mystery, has been the goal of many of the offspring of Evil and Good. It is in their motive where the gulf stretches. Nimrod, the King of the ancient city-empire of Babel, began the construction of a tower which he planned to reach Heaven. Although his attempt was thwarted by Good, what inspired it is alive and well today. Planet earth has been inhabited by many who have a genetic propensity for great power, and total control. This inherited leaning is not confined to individuals. Remember, the two opposing forces are "families".

We'll fast-forward to the time of the empire known as "Rome". Our trail begins here. Rome is far more than a city, a collection of inhabited buildings sitting on seven hills. Rome is a force, a power-system. This power is both religious and financial. Religion and money control the human heart and mind. so the power of Rome targets the whole of man.

Rome is slated to play a three-fold role in world history... "Trinity-Rome". Her first appearance on stage was as "Pagan-Rome". For centuries she ruled the world (the portion that mattered). Eventually, however, Pagan-Rome broke up into many small nationalistic pieces. It was from an attempt to glue these pieces back together that Rome reappeared in her second role - "Papal-Rome". Pagan-Rome had to go, for Papal-Rome to surface. For more than a thousand years the Supreme Pontiff (the "Pope") would oversee the bloody and brutal reign of terror which held all Europe in an iron grip. The Church of Rome set up a system of ecclesiastical tribunals known collectively as "the Inquisition". Its purpose was to rid the world of non-conformists, through torture and execution by the millions. It was not a good time for any who refused to bow the knee. And it was a master-stroke for Evil, because the cover of terror was held in place in the name of Good. With all its brutal power, this phase of Rome eventually subsided; essentially finished. Yes, we find the Supreme Pontiff still occupying the Papal throne, but the brutality has vanished (for now). All that remains is for the intermission to end, and Rome to make its final stage appearance - phase three of Trinity-Rome.

Papal-Rome is going to be my launch pad however. The holiest shrine of the Church of Rome has always been the city of Jerusalem. Like Rome, Jerusalem is far more than a mere city. Any Catholic pilgrim who survived the arduous journey to this shrine was rewarded with an Indulgence from the Pope. An "Indulgence" is, for lack of a better name, a "sin pass" - a forgiveness ticket. It is to erase a specified type and number of sins. The Papal Indulgences for the Jerusalem pilgrimage were the highest denomination available. Any pilgrim could look forward to a very good time indeed upon his return, all on the Pope, and all scott-free.

In the year 1071, this pilgrimage was blocked. Muslim warriors captured Jerusalem, claimed it for Allah, and denied entrance to all non-Muslims. Pope Urban II could not allow this, so at the Council of Clairmont, he issued an appeal to all able-bodied, devout Catholic men to take up arms, travel to Jerusalem, and retake the city. This proved to be much more difficult than he thought. One battle wave led to another. From 1096 to 1291 nine Papal wars (campaigns) were needed to reclaim the city for Rome. These battles, known as "the Crusades" did not produce a true victory however. Skirmishes trickled on continuously. So the Pope decided to send a permanent army to live in Jerusalem. What he sent there was no volunteer bunch. From the elite of those who fought in the Crusades he hand-picked the very best. Then he blessed each man, and formed them into an Ecclesiastic Society. They were a soldier/monk hybrid force. He then split them into two holy "Orders": "The Order of the Knights of Templar" (later know as "the Knights Templar"), who were commissioned to assure the safety of all Catholic pilgrims; and "The Order of the Knights of the Hospitallers of St. John of Jerusalem" (later known as "the Knights of Malta"). These Knights cared for the sick and injured pilgrims and soldiers.

This little blip in history - the formation of these Orders, will prove to be the first note played by any instrument in the orchestra, performing the symphony of events which Evil composed to rule the world. This might sound like a green cheese claim, but stay with me. It will become, block by block, a fact too big to fight.

The elite group chosen by Urban II actually received a double "blessing". They were individually blessed by the Pope, but they were also blessed by Evil himself... Evil sharing his "delivered power" with "whomsoever he wills". Soon these Knights enjoyed the status of gods. They were greatly feared, believed to have mystical powers. No one would argue with a Knight, even eye-contact was avoided. Crowds would make way for a Knight as he walked through the town. The Knights were exempt from having to pay the tithe, and they paid no taxes. One revealing fact is that the Knights, to a man, were unusually gifted: in the arts, as teachers, as philosophers; and most notably, in finance. Theirs was the "Midas touch". So much so, that before long, all the Crowned heads of Europe had retained Templars to oversee their State treasury. This was the thin edge of a fatal wedge. Not only could these "blessed" men work magic with money, but also with accounting ledgers. Through their cunning and skill, the Royal families of Europe found themselves deeply in debt to the Order of the Knights Templar. One might argue; "These were Kings, just dismiss the Templars and erase the debt." But the Templars were seen as possessing god-like powers. The Royal families feared them as much as the average citizens did. Since the debts grew too large to pay off, the Order was paid in vast tracts of land, and priceless treasures and works of art. The Order of the Knights Templar, in record time, became the wealthiest body in all of Europe. You see, they had it all wrapped up so neatly. All of Europe was Catholic; and Catholics feared hell-fire more than anything (whether pauper or Prince). And they believed the Templars possessed the power to consign their souls to hell. This hold made the Templars virtual gods.

By the 1300's, this infallible group of men hit their first brick-wall (temporarily as it turns out). King Philip IV ruled France. He a most ambitious, greedy, and devious monarch; and feared no one. He was drunk with power, and had long eyed the Papacy in Rome. He craftily arranged for the murder of Boniface VIII, Pope. Not only did he remove the Pontiff, but he managed to move the Papal throne from Rome to Avignon in France by 1309. Then he crowned Clement V as the new (puppet) Pope. This act of King Philip split the Catholic Church for the next sixty-eight years. Philip's visceral hatred for all things "Roman" led him to decree the round-up of all Knights Templar. As they came to the French prisons, they were tortured and executed. A very few Knights Templar however, were able to escape this cull. They had fled to Portugal and Britain. The ones in Portugal found safe refuge; and before long had regrouped as "The Knights of Christ". Those who reached Britain had a more difficult time of it. Britain was still officially Catholic (although the Papal tie was weakening). Knights Templar were hunted in Britain, but not vigorously. They had to go underground to survive, but were able to do it successfully through a code of ultra-secrecy. Once invisible, they wormed their way into favour with the peasant class and their lowly Catholic priests. This assured them of a supply of food and other necessities, as well as safe hiding places. The British peasants could sense something "special" about these enigmatic strangers, and referred to them as "the Great Society". Their training of the peasants (their necessary friends) resulted in the great Peasant Uprising of 1381 in Britain. Although the Crown crushed this revolt, the seeds of discontent, and bravery to revolt, were successfully sown from this.

The fugitive Knights Templar - the handful remaining after the purge - found themselves in a strange situation. Their status as near gods which they had been accustomed to had turned to rejection, thanks to the French puppet-Pope. Their prime link to god (they thought... Evil doesn't tip his hand) was gone, as their Grand Master (the "pope" of the Order, so to speak) had been executed. This had been most traumatic, and many of the Templars lived in a state of severe depression.

History estimates that over 100,000,000 people were put to a cruel death under the tyranny of Papal-Rome. The Bible described this fact as her being "drunk with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the martyrs of Christ" (Revelation 17:6).

It took many years of catastrophic events within Roman Catholicism to set in motion the ever-widening ripples which grew into a tidal wave. The Protestant Reformation, the French Revolution, and the imprisonment of the reigning Pope in 1798 by the French Army, finally broke the back of the temporal power of the Church of Rome. The Bible says "the Beast" will receive "a wound unto death" (Revelation 13:13); but that won't be the end of the Beast. To recover from this deadly wound, Rome, under the guidance of the force it received its power from, has focussed all its energy into "the Grand Design"; a top-secret long-range strategy. Evil has not left the stage yet.

The first attempt at recovery, had taught Rome a valuable lesson. Soon after the deadly blow she launched "the Counter Reformation"; a second stab at the Inquisition. Unleashing all her old fury, she tried to reign-in her disobedient children by torture and execution once again. But the lesson she learned was that the human mind, once it has tasted freedom, is a hard animal to tame. So Rome grudgingly accepted the fact that patience and flawless planning was her only option. The Grand Design will prove that.

In 1521, a humble German Catholic Priest named Martin Luther found himself excommunicated by Rome for setting in motion the Protestant Reformation. Less than twenty years later, in 1540, a most ambitious member of Evil's family named Ignatius Loyola resurrected the ideal of the "warrior-monk" in an ecclesiastical Order he named "the Company of Jesus" to mimic the former Order of the Knights Templar. The Pope was thoroughly well impressed; but he reasoned that the word "company" sounded too militaristic, and revealed too much of the Order's real agenda. He therefore changed the name to "the Society of Jesus". The members of this elite group soon went by the name "Jesuits". The Jesuit Order was unlike anything Rome had launched before. These men took the Templar ideal, and polished it to perfection. The Pope himself was so fearful of the power these men had, that he separated them from his control, and established the Order as a completely distinct entity. The Jesuits actually crowned their own Pope, which they called "the General" amongst themselves, and "the Black Pope" to others. He held his position for life. The rest of the Catholic priesthood greatly feared the men they called "the educated clergy". Indeed they were highly educated, but supernaturally as well as scholastically. They became the teaching arm of the Roman Church, and were given control of all Catholic schools in Europe. In addition to that, only books written by Jesuits were sanctioned for publication by Rome, no matter whether the subject was religious or secular.

Ignatius Loyola had developed a most rigorous and rigid ritual of indoctrination, which every Jesuit had to follow daily. He called his method "the Spiritual Exercises". The cornerstone of his method was the complete abandonment of conscience and scruples, so one could submit fully, without question or hesitation to his superiors in the Order. "The Spiritual Exercises" begins with this statement... "THE JESUITS MUST BE, IN THE HANDS OF THEIR SUPERIORS, AS A CORPSE IN THE UNDERTAKER'S HANDS." Another statement appears exactly 500 times within the body of the text... "ONE MUST SEE CHRIST IN THE PERSON OF THEIR GENERAL". The Jesuits enjoyed slavish favour from the Roman Pontiff. He set them up as a strike-force to win back what the Church had lost through the Protestant Reformation. Pope Paul III had them focus on England, France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Austria, Switzerland, and Czechoslovakia. What the Pope did not know was that the Jesuit Order had a secret motto. It was never to be written, but it was repeated daily: "THE CHURCH TO RULE THE WORLD; THE POPE TO RULE THE CHURCH; THE JESUITS TO RULE THE POPE"....

"All this power I will give thee, and the glory of them:
for that is delivered unto me; and whomsoever I will,
I give it."
(Luke 4:6)

What the Knights Templar did so well, the Jesuits did better. They were the highest of intellectuals; the only recognized authors of their time; the sole educators in Europe; the favoured and feared children of the Pontiff; and were believed to possess hypnotic spirituality. The Kings of Europe would only make confession to a Jesuit, and no other Priest. All the aristocracy soon did the same. The Jesuits were well aware of the gold-mine they had in this. As confessors to all the mighty, they were able to catalogue every high-level secret in Europe. Not only that, but your confessor is also the one who doles out your penance prescription. And remember, to disobey him could cost you your soul. The Jesuits gave only minor slaps on the wrist for their rich and powerful sinners. This way, the elite would continue to retain them as confessors. The Royalty and aristocracy of Europe were played like a fiddle by the Order. Let's face it. If a King or nobleman believed his Priest could shorten his stay in purgatory, and speed his entrance into Heaven; he would give him whatever he asked. This cash-cow was milked dry. In very short-order indeed, the Jesuit Order had seated itself in the centre of world manipulation, as Europe controlled the world. They looked like Good, but smelled of Evil (chips off the old block).

The pride which led to the expulsion of Evil from the presence of Good is passed to selected family members in every generation. Its natural flowering creates an obsession to dominate others, and eventually control the course of the world.

The city-empire of Babel became ancient Babylon. Babylon was the fountainhead of organized higher-learning. The elite established "the Illuminated Mystery Schools", and a system of High-Priest god-Kings. These, I believe, were not humans, strictly speaking... not all of them at least. They possessed supreme knowledge of astrology, numerology, mathematics, and mysteries; and they ruled by what they called "Divine Right". They were given the title "Pontifex Maximus", or "Supreme Pontiff". This chain has never been broken. In Egypt, religion and State were structured as one, and overseen by the Pharaoh, a Supreme Pontiff. Then the Assyrians ruled the world. They perfected a military machine to enforce their religion and rule State. Next came the Medo-Persians, then the Greeks, then the Romans. These successive empires were revealed to Daniel in the Bible, by way of a revelatory vision. The Babylonian Mystery Schools passed down through these empires as well, teaching the selected elite of every culture, in every time. These are indeed the "Illuminated ones"; the very few who have "seen the light".

Back to Jesuit Europe. At this time, in England, a most complex religious-political mix was boiling away. Eventually, James II, the Catholic King of the House of Stuart was deposed. There followed five attempts to return the Stuarts to the English throne; but each failed. So too failed the struggle to make Britain Catholic once more. The control of the State was now firmly in the hands of Parliament, and no longer under the Church of Rome. Because of this new political climate, the Knights Templar, which had survived only by secrecy, no longer had to watch their backs as before. So they decided to "come out" as it were, under a new name... "Freemasons"... "free" because they were now free from being hunted down; and "masons" because they envisioned themselves as the chosen rebuilders of the stones of Solomon's Temple. This was what they claimed, however. In reality, they saw themselves as much more than Temple builders; but as the divinely commissioned rebuilders of a global government. But this was far too much to reveal, and too soon. So Temple rebuilders was a more palatable claim. On June 24th, 1717, four previously underground Lodges of the Order of the Knights Templar re-established as Freemasonic Lodges.

The Society of Jesus, the Jesuits, had been watching the Order of Freemasons for quite some time, when a merger was contemplated. Their rationale was a complicated one; but in a nutshell, both were Catholic, and many of the things which had separated them earlier, had now changed. They were no longer Templars and Jesuits, rather Freemasons and Jesuits. The cunning Jesuits were able to manipulate a merger, and by so doing, they channelled the energy once focussed on the Jacobite dream of returning Britain to Rome, and the Protestant dream of the Knights Templar, into the new Grand Design of Jesuitry. Once again, the blanket of ultra-secrecy was crawled back under by the newly empowered Freemasons, no longer Templars. Freemasonry spread like wild-fire across England, then France, then the rest of Europe, finally to America. The ranks became quite full indeed. But there was a big gulf separating the top thin layer, and those beneath. For it was only the Grand Master of each Lodge, and a handful of only those of highest rank, who had any knowledge of the Grand Design. All others were kept in ignorance, as today.

In France, during these early days, Catholic Freemasonry was rabidly vigorous. The preeminent Order, which rose to the top like a meteor, was "The Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry". In this world, nothing is what it is presented to be. This Order was not "Scottish", but totally French. Nor was it Protestant (which "Scottish" implies), but most Catholic. This particular Order was hand-picked by the Jesuits, and crafted into the proving-ground for the "degrees", or levels of rank in Freemasonry. Originally there were only three degrees in English Freemasonry. But the Grand Design required much more manpower; and most intense training, and separation of the members according to their degree of loyalty, their intelligence, and their potential use to the Order. So thirty more degrees were added to the traditional three. A man who could pass through that many layers of increasingly intense training; and display the slavish loyalty required for the promotions to the top, would be a perfect candidate for the most secret and shocking work. A thirty-third degree Mason is a man who is sold out, 100% - mentally, and spiritually - to the Order and his Grand Master. Those of the 30th to 32nd degrees are not far behind.

When we think of "the Masons", we think of the good community guys who raise money for children's hospitals; help out during disaster; and sometimes drink too much at conventions. They are admired for their community spirit. And, the vast majority of those who join the Masons are just that... good guys with generous hearts. These are a vital part of the overall plan. They are window-dressing, there to give the organization respectability. But they serve another purpose as well. It is from this mass at the lower degrees that the microscope spots the one or two who show promise. Those who display what the higher ranks are looking for, climb the ladder. They will be plateaued when they reach their maximum potential. The special ones, ones who have an inner "light" if you will, are groomed for the highest ranks. What they have to do in order to reach the top three degrees is beyond belief; but more about this later.

When the early wave of Freemasonry hit Germany, the hottest firebrands gravitated to "The Lodge Theodore of Good Counsel" in Bavaria. But the most conspicuous member of this Lodge was a man born "chosen". His name was Adam Weishaupt. Adam's father was a professor at the University of Ingolstadt; but he died when Adam was only seven years old. Baron Joseph Adam, Curator of the University, was Adam's godfather. As such, the lad's upbringing fell to him.

He decided it was best for Adam to be handed over to the Jesuits to raise.. And the boy took to Jesuit life like a duck to water. So much so, that by the age of only twenty-four, Adam was appointed as professor of Canon Law at the University. Adam Weishaupt believed he had received a divine calling to take Freemasonry to a higher plane. On May 1st, 1776, he and five of his most trusted friends formed "The Order of the Very Perfectibles". They called themselves "the Illuminati", the illuminated ones. They were convinced that the only hope for the redemption of the world was through world-unification. The Latin motto they chose was "Novus Ordo Seclorum"... "The New World Order".

To teach their doctrine of one world, the Illuminati established "the secret schools of wisdom". The Order of the Very Perfectibles adopted the same 33 degrees as other Freemasonic Orders, but in their case only one man (Weishaupt) did all the screening, selecting, and promoting of candidates. He had a special eye for this, and most of those he chose eventually reached the top three degrees. This level was known as "the Mysteries", and these men were kept apart from all of the lower degrees. Only the Mysteries knew the name Adam Weishaupt. Weishaupt was quoted as saying, "Any man who grasps morality, patriotism, or religious faith, is of no value at all to our cause." For a man to advance from one high degree to the next, he had to perform shocking satanic rituals, and swear oaths to Lucifer concerning themselves and their children. These acts were recorded, and the candidate had to sign the record in his own blood. The potential for blackmail created very strong chains indeed. Weishaupt only chose those from families of great wealth and power. None of these could endure public exposure, a point which never escaped Weishaupt. Franklin Delano Roosevelt had "Novus Ordo Seclorum" printed on the American one-dollar bank notes. His records revealed he was a 33rd degree Freemason.

The Order of the Very Perfectibles was soon recognized throughout Freemasonry as a "set apart" group of gifted men. At a meeting of Freemasons from around the world, held in Wilhelmsbad Bavaria from July 16th to August 29th in 1782, the Illuminati stole the show. And high degree members of other Orders sought membership among the Very Perfectibles. Within a very few years, the Illuminati's membership boasted many national leaders, and top financiers of the world. It was a group of the most powerful men on the planet, and none less. But they shared more than money and power. They possessed a kinship of genetics... "family" ties.

Evil, as I posited at the outset, was given a portion of Good's power; big enough to accomplish a purpose, but tiny compared with Good's total power. Good, therefore, is always in ultimate control. And Good takes care of His offspring; especially obedient offspring. Good reveals to His obedient family members what they need to know. He doesn't want them blind-sided. Good orchestrates periodic exposures of Evil's work for various reasons, one of which is to give His children a heads-up, and confirm suspicions. There have been a few exposures of the work Evil has been accomplishing through those he shares his power with. One such eye-opener occurred in 1785. To take secret messages from one Freemasonic Lodge to another, certain highly trusted and resourceful couriers were used. The Illuminati were sending a strong-box by their most trusted courier on horseback from a Lodge in Frankfurt to headquarters in Paris. The courier, named Lanze, and his horse were found dead on the roadway near the town of Ratisbon. The tree under which they apparently took rest was struck by lightning. The sealed strong-box was addressed to, "the Grand Master of the Grand Orient Lodge - Paris" The box was taken to the police station in Ratisbon, where the chief forced it open. Inside were documents detailing the Illuminati's plan for a French Revolution, and how it would fit in to a greater plan for world takeover. The papers were taken to the Elector of Bavaria, who ordered a surprise raid on the offices of the Lodge in Frankfurt. The raid produced a mountain of documentation which outlined their plan for a one-world government through a series of revolutions at first, followed by world-scale wars. Within days, every newspaper in Europe carried the story. Surprisingly (not really) the next day, every newspaper printed a retraction of the story. Their reason was that the documents were said to be a fanciful dream which the Illuminati recorded for the amusement of their members. When you consider that their membership consisted of heads of State, politicians, top-level bankers, and global merchants, is it any wonder that the newspapers were persuaded to recant? Nevertheless, for a few with special eyes, one exposure was sufficient.

Another big exposure came in 1797. John Robison was the Secretary General of the prestigious Royal Society in Edinburgh Scotland. He was also a professor of Natural Philosophy at Edinburgh University. He was respected far and wide as an intellectual. But he was also enigmatic. He had long been watching the events in Europe and connected them with the rise of Freemasonry. He had hidden his integrity, so he could gain inside information. He knew that men of high morals would never receive the time of men like Adam Weishaupt. In fact, Robison was aware that Weishaupt had his eye on him, as a man of great potential to the Illuminati. Eventually Robison's hope was realized. Weishaupt sent word to Robison to arrange a meeting. At their meeting, Robison presented himself as an ambitious man with no scruples, but a brilliant mind. Weishaupt was completely taken by this man. In fact, he was so fooled, and so captivated, that for the very first time he short-circuited his own system, and welcomed Robison into the Order of the Very Perfectibles at the highest level, inside the secret circle. Robison was a spy, a man of the highest integrity and morals. He had long feared what was being orchestrated by Weishaupt, and now he had a chance to digest and expose it to the world. In addition, Weishaupt gave Robison access to his most secret writings, for comment, input, and advice on implementation. One day, Robison and all the documents just disappeared from the face of the planet. You see, Robison was smart. He had no family, nor ties to anyone. And he vanished. But by the end of 1797 a book had been privately published entitled "Proofs of a Conspiracy", written by this invisible man. It exposed the entire can of worms; and had been delivered mysteriously to the important bookshops of Europe. With great speed, all copies in bookshops were siezed, as well as any found in private hands. Robison knew this would happen, so he mailed copies to confidants in many countries around the world, with instructions to hide them well for posterity.

Disclosures of the sordid details have come to us in more recent years as well. One was from a surprising source. Dr. Carroll Quigley is a high-degree member of the Illuminati. He has not undergone a spiritual transformation; he has not had a twinge of conscience; he is not a spy for the other side. No; he is a proud Illuminist. Dr. Quigley wrote a book entitled "Tragedy and Hope" (published in 1975) in which he unabashedly reveals, in one-thousand pages, the plan of his Order. He declared the Novus Ordo Seclorum to be a done deal; with no further need for secrecy or excuses. Since his fellow Illuminists did not share his brazen smugness, his book only had a single printing. Copies are very difficult to find.

There have been a few other books written about the Illuminati. All of them quote from the writings of Adam Weishaupt. Here is a small sampling of the writings of Weishaupt entitled, "The Original Writings of the Order and Sect of the Illuminati"...

"If you are a traitor and perjurer, learn that all our brothers are called upon to arm themselves against you. Do not hope to escape or to find a place of safety. Wherever you are, shame, remorse, the rage of our brothers will pursue you and torment you to the innermost recesses of your entrails."
(World Revolution - by Nestor Webster - p.14)

"I (Weishaupt) have contrived an explanation which has every advantage; is inviting to Christians of every communion; gradually frees them from all religious prejudices; cultivates the social virtues; and animates them by a great, a feasible, a speedy prospect of universal happiness in a state of liberty and moral equity, freed from the obstacles of which subordination, rank, and riches continually throw in our way. My explanation is accurate, and complete, my means are effectual and irresistible. Our secret association works in a way that nothing can withstand."
(Proofs of a Conspiracy - by John Robison - p.64)

"These people (referring to the lower degrees) swell our numbers and fill our treasury; get busy and make these people nibble at our bait... but don't tell them our secrets. They must be made to believe the low degree they have reached is the highest."
(from a letter by Weishaupt to a high-degree member)

Freemasonic Orders were found in all parts of Europe, and had sprouted in America. Weishaupt saw that unification was needed for greater global power. Negotiations began between Weishaupt and European Royalty and nobility. He put himself forward as submissive, and agreed to be initiated into their form of Freemasonry, if they agreed to a merger of all Orders into one. The year was 1777, and for five years the submissive Weishaupt secretly forged the perfect machine to achieve his goals. So on July 16th, 1782, at the Congress of Wilhelmsbad, a formal alliance was signed and sealed. All Freemasons were now, and henceforth, brothers under one Order. Virtually all of the low ranking Masons around the world knew nothing of this merger. Global Freemasonry was now under the control of a handful of men, with Adam Weishaupt at the top. The Wilhelmsbad Congress was off-limits to any reporter; but one was there in an indirect way. One French nobleman in attendance was a close friend to a historian/reporter. He wrote this to his inquisitive friend as soon as he returned to France...

"What passed at this terrible Congress will never be known to the outside world, for those men who have been drawn unwittingly into the movement, and heard for the first time the real designs of the leaders, were under oath to reveal nothing. One honest Freemason, the Comte de Virieu, when questioned on the tragic secrets he had brought back with him, replied: 'I will not confide them to you. I can only tell you that this is very much more serious than you think. The conspiracy which has been woven is so well thought out that it will be, so to speak, impossible for the Monarchy, and the Church to escape it.'"
(World Revolution - by Nestor Webster - p.18)

From that time on, the Comte de Virieu could only speak of Freemasonry with horror. The world headquarters for the newly merged Illuminized Freemasons was in Frankfurt Germany. The merger, under a high degree of pressure from Weishaupt, actually caused many top-level members to defect under a guarantee of protection for them and their families from the Elector of Bavaria. He heard testimony from some of the defectors in a well hidden Court of Inquiry. They testified under oath of the satanic rituals they had taken part in, and the secret documents they had seen. The testimony was so shocking, that the Elector ordered a police raid on the home of Herr von Zwack, the second-in-command to Weishaupt. Countless documents were seized and published in the official report of the Court. Von Zwack had fled the country, and Weishaupt took refuge in the home of his nobleman friend, the Duke of Saxe-Gotha.

At the public disclosure of the findings of the Court of Inquiry, the public was in horror. But Evil is seldom without a recovery plan. From what appeared to be the death-blow to the Order of Freemasons, Weishaupt saw a jewel of an opportunity. He staged a highly publicized "collapse" of Freemasonry. He spent a small fortune on full-page newspaper reports of the death of the Illuminati, all across Europe, Britain, and America. The best gift of all for the Order... TOTAL INVISIBILITY! Who's going to be on the look-out for a dead man?.. even if he's alive, well, and possesses greater power than ever.

We now have a skeleton of reality erected. I have only used a tiny fraction of the evidence available to build it. Let's put some closer-to-home flesh on it.

The Order of the Very Perfectibles was founded at the time of the American Revolution. Before the Colonies were united there were already fifteen Lodges of Secret Societies flourishing in America. They were all united under the Illuminati. The largest of these was "The Columbia Lodge of the Order of the Illuminati" in New York City. The Mayor of New York, DeWitt Clinton was an outspoken member. Thomas Jefferson was a member of the Lodge in Virginia; and he wrote the strongest of any defense offered for Adam Weishaupt following the discoveries from the police raids in Bavaria. But there were also some high-profile men in America who began warning of the hold of these Secret Societies. In his farewell address when George Washington left the Presidency, he inserted a veiled warning about the encroachment of the Illuminati into the ranks of the Government. Here's a small excerpt...

"Combinations and associations (meaning Secret Societies) are likely in the course of time and things, to become potent engines by which cunning, ambitious, and unprincipled men will be able to subvert the power of the people and to usurp for themselves the reins of government: destroying afterwards the very engines (meaning the Constitution) which had lifted them to unjust dominion."

In a letter to a friend, Washington assured him he needed no persuasion as to the danger of the Illuminists. He wrote...

"It is not my intention to doubt that the doctrine of the Illuminati and the principles of Jacobinism had not spread to the United States. On the contrary, no one is more satisfied of this fact than I am."
(from The Writings of George Washington - U.S. Government Printing Office, 1941 - Vol. 20 - p.518)

In 1830, Adam Weishaupt died. He was faithful to his cause, even in his final moments. He sent for a Jesuit and a newspaper reporter. He "rejoined" the Catholic Church (via the attendant Priest); then immediately closed his eyes and died. He had told the reporter to have the papers print the events of that final hour, and assure the people that the Order of the Illuminati was indeed finished forever.

Once the dust had settled following Weishaupt's publicized death, the Illuminati appointed a new supreme leader. He was Giuseppe Mazzini, one of the most vicious leaders of the Italian Revolution. His title was Director of Worldwide Revolutionary Programming. At this same time, an obscure intellectual, Moses Mordecai Marx Levy, joined The League of the Just, an Illuminist Secret Society. He preferred to be called "Karl Marx". He was a genius, and his skill as a visionary was soon recognized at the top. He was asked to take all the plans and doctrine of the Illuminati, and record them in a coherent "bible".

Karl Marx was genetically predisposed to accomplish such a mission. He did so far beyond the expectations of his Master. He produced "The Communist Manifesto" - a brilliantly detailed account of the plan for world takeover, envisioned by Adam Weishaupt, with a good measure of his own enhancements. Historians who have scrutinized this bible agree that it is the mind of Adam Weishaupt, combined with that of the Illuminist Clinton Roosevelt, put on paper by a genius and visionary.

With his new bible in hand, Giuseppe Mazzini set the focus of the Order on the United States. To spearhead the plan for America, Mazzini chose Albert Pike of Arkansas. Pike had formed an army of men from the Indian nations to fight the South during the American Civil War. He was known far and wide as a man of inhuman brutality, and a butcher. Many said that the "evil spirits of the red-man" had possessed Albert Pike. Pike was an open and proud worshipper of Lucifer, a skilled conjuror of spirits, and fluent in all forms of sorcery. Giuseppe Mazzini and Albert Pike were true soul-mates; and shared the Illuminist throne; Mazzini overseeing the political agenda of the Order, while Pike was in control of religious operations. By 1870 Mazzini had completed his master-plan for the United States. Preparing it for years in secret, he now shared his brain-child with Albert Pike. In a letter written to Pike, Mazzini wrote...

"We must allow all the confederations to continue just as they are, with their systems, their central authorities and their diverse modes of correspondence between high grades of the same rite, organized as they are at present, but we must create a super rite, which will remain unknown, to which we will call those Masons of high degree whom we select. With regard to our brothers in Masonry, these men must be pledged to the strictest secrecy. Through this supreme rite, we will govern all Freemasonry which will become the one international centre, the more powerful because its direction will be unknown."

(Occult Theocracy - by Lady Queensborough - pp.208,209)

Pike worked feverishly to create the new super rite envisioned by Mazzini. The fruit of his labour was "The New and Reformed Palladian Rite of Freemasonry". This new rite had three Supreme Councils: Charleston; Rome; and Berlin. A renowned French historian of the time wrote a book entitled "The Devil In The Nineteenth Century". In it he speaks of this Palladian Rite...

"This super rite, which is Masonic Luciferian spiritism, must not be confused with the machinery of high Masonry. Palladism is the cult of satan in the inner shrines of a rite superimposed on all the rites. It is a cult, a religion."

(Le Diable au XIX Siecle - by Dr. Bataille - p.364)

Albert Pike believed (as do I) in Good and Evil... where we differ is in the fact that he believed they were equal in power. We also differ in this: he believed that Lucifer was the Good force. Therefore he saw himself as an agent of Good. Pike truly believed he was divinely chosen to save the world from Evil. This is a commonly held notion among all Luciferians. I said earlier, this is a grand chess game. The pieces from both sides are convinced that the survival of planet earth depends upon their winning.

For many years, the British Museum Library in London was in possession of a most remarkable document. It was on display there until 1977, when one night, it just disappeared without a trace. Nothing was broken or disturbed, and it was kept in a security case. The document was a letter written by Albert Pike to Giuseppe Mazzini, dated August 15, 1871. It contains an outline which Mr. Pike said Lucifer himself told him, for world domination. In this lengthy letter he tells details of three World Wars to be planned, and many smaller Revolutionary Wars within several countries. This excerpt deals with Lucifer's plans for World War III...

"We shall unleash the Nihilists and Atheists, and we shall provoke a formidable social cataclysm which in all its horror will show clearly to the nations the effect of Absolute Atheism, origin of savagery and of the most bloody turmoil. Then everywhere, the citizens, obliged to defend themselves against the world minority of revolutionaries, will exterminate those destroyers of civilization, and the multitude, disillusioned with Christianity, whose deistic spirits will from that moment be without compass, anxious for an ideal, but without knowing where to render its adoration, will receive the pure light through the universal manifestation of the pure doctrine of Lucifer, brought finally out in the public view, a manifestation which will result from the general reactionary movement which will follow the destruction of Christianity and Atheism, both conquered and exterminated at the same time."
(excerpt from letter - from Albert Pike to Giuseppe Mazzini - dated August 15, 1871 - property of the British Museum)

And I thought I was bad for run-on sentences... 97 words without a period. But what a sentence! This chess game is not between Religion and Atheism. Both are slated for termination at the same time. This is between the only two important realities of life - Truth and Lie. But both Good and Evil claim to have Truth, while the opponent has Lie. Only one can have Truth. Who do you cheer for? Who do you think will win the game?

The agenda is not to have Illuminism rule the world; nor is it to have Evil rule the world, The Illuminati is working to one end only... to have Lucifer rule the world. And they believe he's Good.

The Illuminati is a giant corporation, structured like any efficient organization. It has many departments, branches, and sub-branches. One of their most important components is the department of finance. It has a plan for global financial control. The Bible says that "the love of money is the root of all evil" (I Timothy 6:10). Money makes the world go round; so who controls money, also controls the world. I see money, not as paper, gold, silver, or anything physical. I see it as a spirit. So do Illuminists; and they take full advantage of this fact. For that spirit has endowed certain chosen people, from the earliest times, to control the physical form of money. We saw this with the Templars, then the Jesuits, now the Illuminists. Each successive layer has increased acumen regarding money. There are a very few families on the earth which have controlled all the money there is. They have been chosen, and aptly fitted for their duty, by the spirit of money. Their members sit at the summit of Freemasonry. One of these families (I don't know if it's the most important of these families, but it is certainly the most visible) is known as "Rothschild". It is a German name meaning the "red shield". They used their power and influence to establish Central Banks in England, Germany, France, Italy, and Switzerland originally... then in America, and now all over the world. A "Central Bank" is one granted authority by the Government of a country to regulate its money, and print its currency. The Central Bank in America was a bit of a challenge. It was tried for many years, but was always blocked by Congress. The U.S. Constitution states, "Congress alone has the power to coin money and regulate the value thereof". This was not an acceptable situation for the Illuminati. So in 1907, many high-ranking Government officials, who were also high-ranking Illuminists, began a campaign of propaganda among the public. Their strategy was to instil fear that without a Central Bank, like the countries of Europe, the American economy would collapse. Their plan worked. In December 1913 the House of Representatives, and the Senate, passed "The Federal Reserve Act". Under this Act, the Federal Reserve Bank was established, the Central Bank for America. It has been granted the sole right to print money; but its power goes far beyond that. In spite of the carefully crafted name - designed to make the people believe it is a Government entity (because of the "Federal") - it is a purely private bank. It has no government link whatsoever. But this private bank, with its global impact, does not have to consult Congress regarding anything it does. Another thing granted in this Act, is the right to print money (as much as it chooses) without being backed by gold in reserve. So even the name "Reserve" is bogus. On top of this, it is the only source from which the U.S. Government was able to borrow any money needed. As if that's not enough, the Federal Reserve Bank is allowed to set whatever interest rate it decides for repayment of money lent to the Government. Congress cannot dispute that interest rate. Clearly, this is a major part of the Illuminati's plan for control of the world economy.

If there is any doubt as to what the illuminated ones are able to do, and the depth to which they can insert whom they wish, where they wish; this should erase that doubt. During the Presidency of Woodrow Wilson, an enigmatic figure appeared as if from nowhere. His name was Edward Mandell House. House insisted on being called "Colonel House", even though he was never an officer in the armed forces of any country. No one in the U.S. Government knew Mr. House; but he became a friend to Woodrow Wilson. "Friend" is inaccurate. He was more accurately the spiritual twin of the President. Wilson said this about him...

"Mr. House is my second personality. He is my independant self. His thoughts and mine are one. If I were in his place, I would do just as he suggested."

(Intimate Papers of Colonel House - edited by Charles Seymour - vol. 1 - p.114)

Edward Mandell House was planted inside the President's Office (inside his spirit actually) by those unseen, but with the real power. When one reads of what Colonel House accomplished in world politics, always from the shadows, it is almost beyond belief. He wrote a book, published under the pseudonym

"Philip Dru", entitled "Philip Dru - Administrator... A Story of Tomorrow". What a curious title. It was only after this book was in all the major book-stores, and selling like hot-cakes, that House revealed that he was the author. In it he outlines his ideas for the running of a Central Bank (Wilson's Presidency began at the beginning of 1913 - the year the Fed. was established); his ideas for an "income" tax system (precisely as it was done); and many other things which just happened to be realized. He also outlines what he called "socialism as dreamed of by Karl Marx", and how he would achieve it. By the way, House was a 33rd degree Freemason.

For over two centuries, the international banking families of the Illuminati have steered world finance. They learned early that one of the best ways to make billions of dollars (trillions now) was to foment wars and revolutions around the world; and then lend money to both sides in the conflict. Many nations are in crippling debt to these families because of their cunning. The patriarch of the Rothschild dynasty, Mayer Amschel Rothschild, had a pet slogan...

"Give me control of the money, and it doesn't matter who makes the laws."

Central Banks, all of them controlled by select Illuminati families, work in a very simple way. They create the need for huge sums of money, through wars, revolutions, defense projects, scientific adventures, disaster relief, preparation for terrorism, and many other ideas. The need is always urgent - no time to prepare or plan alternatives. They print the money needed (even trillions) without any backing in gold; then loan it to the particular body needing it; and set terms of repayment which is always justified as higher than normal, because the need is urgent. You see, these men are well aware of what the Bible says: "The borrower is servant to the lender" (Proverbs 22:7).

Evil is smart, very smart. The Bible goes so far as to say the Evil's offspring are smarter than Good's offspring (Luke 16:8). World control requires the changing of the masses; and to change the masses, Evil doesn't need sticks, he needs smarts. It's far easier to steer a walking mule, than to walk a sitting mule. Illuminists know this well. There are countless major, world-changing events which have taken place solely because the children of Evil are wiser than the children of Good. A wise man is always prepared, never caught short. He works patiently and consistently. The wise Illuminists have adopted a three-stage tactic to shape the masses; and achieve what they need. They do it slowly, patiently, consistently, quietly, and successfully. It works like this. Stage 1 - Create a situation, usually a crisis or catastrophe. This is done to incite the emotions of the masses. Fear, rage, and pride are particularly desirable emotions. Stage 2 - Flood the media with carefully crafted reporting designed to steer the fevered emotions incited by stage 1, in the desired direction. Stage 3 - Offer to the masses, the "ONLY PROPER SOLUTION" to the manufactured crisis. That "solution" will be the thing which was desired in the first place. And it was achieved through smarts, not force.

I'll give you an example, a classic, to demonstrate just how this three-stage plan has worked so successfully. When Woodrow Wilson ran for a second term as President, his groomers used the slogan, "He kept us out of war". Since the American population did not want to fight in Europe, this slogan worked well. If he kept us out of the war so far, he'll no doubt continue to keep us out. He was elected again. But all the time he was campaigning, he had commissioned Colonel House to negotiate a method, with the help of British Intelligence, to turn the opinion of the public 180 degrees. You see, the Illuminists wanted the United States in the War. It was an essential part of their total plan. But the public had to want it too; and at that time they most certainly did NOT want it. This is how they achieved their goal.

A very few years prior to World War I, there was a wave of buy-outs of the large newspaper companies across America, and in Europe. It is known now, that the companies which bought them were owned by high-degree Freemasons. Coincidence? I think not. This was just sound preparation. Now Stage 1 - A crisis was needed (two actually, this is the first). The "Lusitania", a British luxury liner was docked at New York Harbour. Now at that time, it was illegal for private passengers to board ships loaded with munitions. The Lusitania was to carry American tourists bound for England. But she had been secretly loaded with military ammunition and explosives some time earlier. On May 1st, 1915, she set sail. Off the coast of Ireland, a German submarine fired a torpedo, and blew the ship apart. Most of the 1,200 passengers killed were Americans. Much later, it was revealed from records declassified that the Americans, the British and the Germans knew well in advance that the Lusitania would be carrying both passengers and munitions. So this crisis had the American public at a fever-pitch of emotions. Next, Stage 2 - All the newspapers which had been conveniently purchased just prior to this event began an unprecedented blitz of anti-German propoganda. Most of what they reported about Germany was either lie, or massive exaggeration. But the emotions of the public had been steered toward the Hun. Finally, Stage 3 - The only proper solution, is to fight Germany along-side Britain. But to clinch it, a second crisis was planned.

Crisis number two was an imaginary one. Sometimes they're the most rewarding for the Illuminists. It was fuelled, however, by the first crisis. From the media blitz, fear swept across America. And fear can never be wasted. The new monster on the planet was the submarine... unseen, and deadly. Stories about the ability of German submarines to enter New York Harbour, and other coastal areas of the U.S., silently and undetected, flooded the papers. This was a time very unlike now. People weren't familiar with fear-filled sleep. But fear-filled sleep was what they faced. The only proper solution was now the desire of every American. On April 6, 1917, the United States declared war on Germany... the very thing needed for the Illuminist plan. And it was not forced on anyone. The public demanded it. The first order of business was for the Government to request billions of dollars from the Federal Reserve Bank. Even though I'm on Good's side, I must admit this is a pretty sweet plan. And it has been used more times that I can count.

Near the end of this planned War, the illuminati was spearheading another vital spoke in their world-plan wheel. It was known as "the Bolshevik Revolution" in Russia. The plan to depose the Czarist system was not a Russian idea; nor was it planned in Russia. It was an Illuminati idea completely. This is what

Russian top military man, General Arsene de Goulevitch said about it...

"The main purveyors of funds for the Revolution, however, were neither the crackpot Russian millionaires, nor the armed bandits of Lenin. The real money came from certain British and American circles which for a long time past had lent their support to the Russian revolutionary cause. The important part played by the wealthy American banker, Jacob Schiff, in the events of Russia... is no longer a secret... for the final triumph of Bolshevism in Russia."

(New York Journal American - February 3, 1949)

Winston Churchill was most outspoken about the real power behind the Russian Revolution. He wrote...

"From the days of Spartacus (Adam) Weishaupt to those of Karl Marx, to those of Trotsky, Bela-Kuhn, Rosa Luxembourg and Emma Goldman, this worldwide conspiracy has been steadily growing. This conspiracy played a definitely recognizable role in the tragedy of the French Revolution. It has been the mainspring of every subversive movement during the nineteenth century; and now at last this band of extraordinary personalities from the underworld of the great cities of Europe and America have gripped the Russian people by the hair of their heads, and have become practically the undisputed masters of that enormous empire."

(Illustrated Sunday Herald - article by Winston S. Churchill - February 8, 1920)

A "band of extraordinary personalities from the underworld" are "the mainspring of every subversive movement during the nineteenth century". And the 20th, and the 21st centuries too, Mr. Churchill. This "band" are the Illuminated ones.

Albert Pike drafted a plan which detailed every step of world takeover by the first decade of the 21st century. We're half-way through that decade now. It calls for three World Wars. W.W. I and W.W. II came off without a hitch, and right on schedule. The reason stated for these global wars, followed by a steady stream of revolutions in various nations, is to act as a diversion. The focus of the whole planet is on these, and every nation has a "seen" enemy to watch. But it's all a smoke-screen for what is happening in secret. Nikolai (Vladimir Ilich) Lenin, the Communist leader in Russia, was well versed in Pike's plan. He added some bits to it. This is what he said...

"First we (Communism) will take Eastern Europe, then the masses of Asia. Then we will encircle the United States, which will be the last bastion of Capitalism."

First Eastern Europe, then Asia, then the U.S.A. But Communism is NOT the enemy of Capitalism. It is merely a tool in the hands of the enemy. The renowned Illuminist, Dimitry Manuilski, a professor at the Lenin School of Political Warfare, in Moscow, was put in charge of formulating a future attack on the U.S. Here's an overview of his plan, in his words...

"War to the hilt between Communism and Capitalism is inevitable. Today, of course, we are not strong enough to attack. Our time will come in thirty to forty years (that's now). To win, we shall need the element of surprise. The Western world will have to be put to sleep. So we shall begin by launching the most spectacular peace movement on record (that was the staged 'fall' of Communism in the 80's). There shall be electrifying overtures, and unheard of concession. The Capitalist countries, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to co-operate to their own destruction. They will leap at another chance to be friends. As soon as their guard is down, we shall smash them with a clenched fist."

By the 1950's many Americans were beginning to smell something rotten in the back yard. Some were uncorrupted government officials. Those at the top knew they had to do something to assuage the growing awareness. So the U.S. Senate commissioned "the Jenner Committee" to investigate, and report. On July 30, 1953, the committee tabled its report to Congress. It reached the following six conclusions...

- "1) The Soviet international organization has carried on a successful and important penetration of the United States government, and this penetration has not been fully exposed.
- 2) This penetration has extended from the lower ranks to the top-level policy and operating positions in our government.
- 3) The agents of this penetration have operated in accordance with a distinct design fashioned by their Soviet superiors.
- 4) Members of this conspiracy helped to get others into government, and protected each other from exposure.
- 5) In general, the Communists who infiltrated our government worked behind the scenes - guiding research and preparing memoranda on which basic American policies were set, writing speeches for Cabinet officers, influencing Congressional investigations, drafting laws, manipulating administrative reorganization - always serving the interests of their Soviet superiors.
- 6) Policies and programs laid down by members of this Soviet conspiracy are still in effect within our government, and constitutes a continuing hazard to national security."

This is ancient history, I know. This report was tabled over half a century ago. I present it to reveal something hidden... a favoured Illuminati pattern. What you see, is never what you get. Yes, they did tell the public that "communists" were inside the yard. And they were. Then what happened? Men like Senator Joseph McCarthy were used to "clean house" in the most public way. Isn't that good? It certainly looks good. It helps Joe American to sleep more peacefully too. But these stalwart attacks are a smoke-screen. They draw the attention of the public to a certain target... "communism" in this case. But the fact is, communism is NOT the enemy. It is merely a very handy tool used by the real enemy. So when the investigations report, and action is taken, and bad communists are kicked out, and Berlin walls are pulled down, and communism "dies"; all is well. But oh no it's not. You've just been put gently and sweetly to sleep. The serpent may have lost its fangs, but not one drop of venom. And snakes grow new fangs. The true enemy now has the great advantage of invisibility. And the white-knight dragon-slayings are choreographed like a Russian ballet.

Lenin's plan (Eastern Europe, then Asia, then the United States) was the Illuminati's plan. And it worked. In my draft notes I have details of how Eastern Europe fell to communism; then how Asia (China, then North Korea, Cambodia, Laos, North Vietnam, and finally all of Southeast Asia) was swallowed. For the sake of brevity, I'll skip that. But it is one of the finest pieces of watch-maker's skill to behold. The Illuminated ones are most assuredly highly illuminated.

What about the third stage of their plan... "Then we will encircle the United States"? There are two ways to encircle: from within, and without. From without, consider this. To America's north (above Canada) lies Russia (look at the globe from the North Pole). To her immediate east lies Cuba. To her south lies Mexico. And to her west lie the Pacific rim countries of Southeast Asia. That sounds a lot like a circle, wouldn't you agree?

But there is a much stronger circle, tightening America from within its borders. This circle consists of every nation on the planet. It is the Illuminati branch of operations called "the United Nations". It is headquartered in economic Babylon - New York City. What an absolutely perfect tool for the job! The U.N. is all about "peace", "safety", "health", "education", "elevation of women", "freedom from poverty, hunger, oppression"... organizations just don't come any "Good"er than this. It's so good, you'd think it must be run by an "angel". It is! The Charter of the United Nations was drafted in 1945 at "the San Francisco Conference". Its wording was modelled after the original Charter of the Soviet Union. Within the many Articles of the Charter, two phrases are repeated over and over: "as prescribed by law"; and "in conformity with the law" Well, what's wrong with that? Don't we want things done under the law? WHOSE LAW? Take the U.N. Charter of Human Rights for example. It states (and all member-nations agreed to this) that the U.N., and NOT any country, holds the authority to make and pass all laws concerning Human Rights. So, for example, if the Charter of Rights of a country happens to conflict with the U.N.'s, the United Nation's charter will rule in any Court in any land. And this is the case with a whole range of Charter items. A document called "The United Nations Umbrella" covers ten areas: 1) disarmament; 2) human rights; 3) development; 4) decolonization; 5) public health; 6) disaster relief; 7) the environment; 8) world heritage sites; 9) education; 10) children. What a fine and noble list. It looks after everything for us. It sure does! But not for your benefit or mine. "Disarmament" is not to disarm the world; it's to disarm the Western world. The registration of guns is not to keep you safe; it's to tell the authorities who has guns. "The Environment" is code, not for providing healthy air to breathe, but for reshaping how you live. And "children" is not to keep your kids safe; but to turn them into micro-chipped, vaccinated, obedient citizens; offering no threat to any "authorities".

Evil and his offspring share a notable characteristic - PRIDE! It is pride which first caused the split creating the force opposing Good. And pride always seeks recognition. Illuminati handiwork has consistently recognizable fingerprints. The use of astrology and numerology is ALWAYS present in their work. These ancient arts are not the invention of Evil, as many suspect. They are the invention of Good; and it was from his time with Good (prior to the split) where Evil learned the efficacy of astrology and numerology. Evil did not create them, he stole them because of their power.

Years ago I warned of certain numbers to watch for in the news: 3, 5, 6, 7, 11, 13, 33, 39, and others. Since then, it is almost beyond belief how these are in our faces. A suicide bomber will kill "39" victims; a plane crash will have "7" survivors. A major occurrence will take place on the "11th" day of the "9th" month, and kill 292 people ("2"+"9"+"2" = "13"). If you listen to the reporting of the major disasters and tragedies today, you will find power numbers everywhere throughout the story. This is because these numbers DO hold power; and they are a hidden message to all those illuminated. The message is, "this is our work; we crafted this".

Let me illustrate my claim using what has been the biggest, and most far-reaching event in history, to usher in a prophecied fact which will reshape the planet and all its inhabitants. It is known simply as "9-11". First off, here is "9" (the number of finality) and "11" (the number of subversion of order, and the number of judgment). The "only proper solution" to this event (the declaration of war on terror) came on March 21st, 2003. This is not a coincidence. March is month number "3". The 21st day is also a "3" ("2"+"1"="3"). And it was year "3" of the new millenium. So in the date alone, we have "3", "3", "3". Well, in numerology, the highest intensification of any number, is to triple it. But it doesn't stop there. March 21st, 2003 is the 555th day after "9-11". This is a triple "5" (the number of concecration... induction into permanence). And here's where astrology is added. March 21st is the Vernal Equinox, the highest holy day on the occult calendar. It is seen as the optimum day of impregnation and beginning a new direction. According to the Congressional record, President Bush declared war on Iraq at 3:33 pm (Washington time)... a triple "3". This "war" lasted 42 days ("4"+"2"="7" - the number of perfection). When it ended (officially) President Bush ordered the aircraft carrier Abraham Lincoln (from where he announced "victory" to the world) to position itself on the 33rd parallel of latitude, for 3 days (another triple "3"). Then he'd arrive by helicopter. He made his speech, declaring the end of this war, at 3:33pm (local time). The date was May 1st, 2003. This is "Beltane", the second highest holy day on the occult calendar. Astrology is always linked with numerology. Is it sinking-in yet?

Here's another occult power technique, recognizable if you know to look for it. It's the taking of a symbol, and turning it backwards. Adolph Hitler, for example, took the Indian Cross - a symbol used for thousands of years to represent the regeneration of life by the sun - a sun-worshipper's cross called "svastika"; and turned it backwards. This was the Nazi "swastika". Well, President Bush, on the deck of the aircraft carrier, and every hand on deck, had the Stars and Stripes badge on their shoulder, BACKWARDS! (easy to verify).

The term "the New World Order" (novus ordo seclorum) was presented to the world by President Bush Sr. He used that term in speeches, precisely 210 times during his Presidency. This is a highly significant power number (it's a trisyllable "70", and  $2+1+0=3$  - the number of complete enclosure). But the first time he spoke it was September 11th, 1990... "11" years (to the day) before "9-11". Coincidence? I think not! The point is, wherever you find numerological power numbers loaded into an event by the bucket-full, then topped with a goodly dash of astrologically significant dates, you have an event planned and choreographed by the illuminated ones... make no mistake.

In the past few years there has bloomed a crop of similarly tipped hands. And they aren't doing the slow-march. They are coming at double-time. These lifts of the veil, although convincing, tend to unfold tediously. So I'll move on to the big question... Does the illuminated plan for world control follow a time-table? Simply put; just how much time might we have? There have been many men of high-degree who have helped us with this. Some let things slip; some are prepared to give hints; some are downright frank about it with no apologies whatsoever. From those I have heard interviewed, and from what some have written, it is very clear, they all agree. Now one might argue that this is another smoke-screen. Possibly; it would certainly not be out of character. But this time, I think not. First, the mandate given to Evil has a time-limit on it; and time is short. Secondly, a most necessary ingredient in this mix is human fear. That's right. It's not just fun for Evil to watch; it is required for fuel. You may have seen the Disney movie called "Monsters Inc." It's an animated film about a corporation run by scary, but lovable, monsters. The company they run processes the "screams of children", which they bottle (the screams, not the kids) and use for fuel to run things in their world. It's their "hydro" if you will. Well, this is not just a convenient coincidence for me. This is code; code to reveal reality. But that's another paper. The point is, the beings who are currently interdimensional, use fear from humans as a needed source of calories, as it were. So I'm saying, for those in the know, it would be counterproductive now to reveal nothing about a plan, or a completion date; as would it be to reveal a time if it was far in the future. In addition to all this, the timetable which has peaked through the curtain makes complete sense. I for one, am inclined to believe the leaks. They all point to the dawn of the Age of Aquarius. What, and when, is that?

According to occult astrology, every 2,000 lunar years a "new age" begins; and the old age passes away. The "New Age Movement" which traditional churchianity gets in such a knot about, is actually more aware of what's going on today than the Bible-thumpers. It is believed that "new ages" come to clean the slate. I believe it too. All the undesirable elements of the old age can be swept into the rubbish-bin by the new one. According to the New-Agers, for the past 2,000 years the earth has been burdened with a heavy load. They claim that the Messiah sent for the family of Good has burdened mankind with the guilt of sin. This, they say, must go.

The Word "aquari", is Latin for "water bearer"; and Aquarius is pictured as the god Pergasus pouring out a pitcher of water. This water, it is agrued, will wash away the guilt associated with sin. Now here's where we must tread very carefully. The whole world is awash with deception, smoke-screens, distractions, diversions, and lies. But it hasn't removed the truth, just covered it. The clear and accurate picture is under there somewhere.

The age of Aquarius will have a period of "dawning" lasting twelve years. This is what the illuminated ones say, and also some men well-versed in Biblical astronomy. It began in the new millennium (2000), and will be completed in 2012. Evil has not missed a target date yet. We hear much about "the Mayan Calendar" and its prediction of the end of the world. Actually, it does NOT predict that. It predicts the end of this world AGE. But the focus has solely shone on the Mayans. The truth is, every one of the major ancient cultures which have addressed "end dates", "transition dates" and the like, have agreed with the Mayans. Does this mean it's correct? No. Does this mean it should be taken seriously? Yes!

I have not forgotten Trinity-Rome, waiting patiently in the wings. Two acts down... one to go. You must admit, I have kept the Bible pretty much out of this. I need to insert some here...

"For YHWH will do nothing unless He reveals His secrets to His servants the prophets."
(Amos 3:7 Hebrew Bible)

"But in the days of the voice of the seventh angel, whenever he is about to trumpet, was even ended the mystery of YHWH, as He preached to His servants the prophets."
(Revelation 10:7 Greek Bible)

There are three chapters in the Bible (containing the Old and New Testaments) which herald and warn of things just around the corner, more than any other portion of the Book: Daniel chapter 7; Revelation chapter 13; and Revelation chapter 17. From these we have presented the final four world Empires of man on planet earth. The first, second, and third were each eventually destroyed. But the fourth is still with us. The four Empires were revealed by God to His prophet Daniel as four "beasts". In a vision, Daniel sees the first beast as a lion. This represents the Babylonian Empire. The second beast is a bear. This is the Medo-Persian Empire. The third beast is a leopard, representing the Greek Empire. These have all gone. The fourth beast is not named as any animal per se, but its characteristics are described as "dreadful and terrible and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth" (Daniel 7:7). This is not a kitten. The fourth beast is described as a three-phase monster. It is "ROME"! We have seen Pagan-Rome, and Papal-Rome already. We are in, and soon to recognize, the third phase; which is the revival of the second phase - a new Papal Rome. And Evil will reveal himself, incarnated in a human body, as the Supreme Pontiff of the whole world. But this won't be crosses, prayer-books, and rosaries; oh no. All that will be smashed to pieces.

The fourth beast system - the final phase of Trinity-Rome, will be "Luciferian-Rome". Lucifer himself will incarnate in a prepared body of flesh. He will, at the right moment, present himself as the Supreme Pontiff of the whole world. Is it beginning to smell like green cheese again? Well, keep reading.

Remember the Jesuits? they were the strike-force of the Roman Church, commissioned to retake what Rome had lost. The most high-profile Jesuit today (recently deceased) is Jesuit Malachi Martin, an Irish Priest with a most charming personality. I have heard him speak on two occasions. He was a professor at the Vatican Pontifical Bible Institute, and was personal advisor to two Popes. He wrote a book entitled "The Keys of This Blood". This book is a masterpiece of research, documentation, word-smithing, and revelation. If I were to choose a sub-title for this work, it would be, "Ready Or Not, Here We Come". The following is an excerpt from that book...

"Willing or not, ready or not, we are all involved in an all-out, no holds barred, three-way global competition. Most of us are not competitors, however. We are the stakes. For the competition is about who will establish the first one-world system of government that has ever existed in the society of nations. It is about who will hold and wield the dual power of authority and control over each of us as individuals and over all of us together as a community.

The competition is all-out because, now that it has started, there is no way it can be reversed or called-off. No holds are barred because, once the competition has been decided, the world and all that is in it - our way of life as individuals and as citizens of the nations; our families and our jobs; our trade and commerce and money; our educational systems and our religions and our cultures; even the badges of our national identity, which most of us have always taken for granted - all will have been powerfully and radically altered forever. No sector of our lives will remain untouched.

The competition began and continues as a three-way affair because that is the number of rivals with sufficient resources to establish and maintain a new world order.

Nobody who is acquainted with the plans of these three rivals has any doubt but that only one of them can win. Each expects the other two to be swallowed up in the coming malestrom of change. That being the case, it would appear inescapable that their competition will end up as a confrontation.

As to the time factor involved, those of us who are under seventy will see at least the basic structures of the new world government installed. Those of us under forty will surely live under its legislative, executive, and judiciary authority and control. Indeed, the three rivals themselves - and many more as time goes on - speak about this new world order not as something around a distant corner of time, but as something that is imminent; as a system that will be introduced and installed in our midst by the end of the final decade of the second millenium.

What these competitors are talking about, then, is the most profound and widespread modification of international, national, and local life that the world has seen in a thousand years. And the competition they are engaged in can be described simply enough as the millenium endgame."
(The Keys of This Blood - by Jesuit Malachi Martin - pp.15,16)

It is from the Jesuit Order that the Illuminati evolved, as we have seen. The plan unfolding before our eyes, because of its Evil spawning, is filled with deception. Knowing this, we read Jesuit Martin's words through x-ray glasses. His thousand page book is a code book, a shadow of reality. He speaks of this "three-way competition", which is neither "three-way", nor is it a "competition". He claims that the Church of Rome, Communism, and Capitalism are in the ring duking it out. Not true! But if you are keeping your eyes on these three, you will be a perfect victim of a diversionary ploy. Rome is the sole victor. Not because she won a fight; but because Good ordained it to be so; and has choreographed a most amazing dance with prophecy and history arm in arm. But if Evil portrays it as a three-way fight among equals then he can sap the energy of both capitalists and communists, who imagine they can affect the outcome of the vapour competition.

Jesuit Martin refers to Pope John Paul II as "the Servant of the Grand Design". His personal motto is "My all for You totally". For who, totally? When he was a lad, his mother, who he was devoted to, died. His father took the grief-stricken boy to a holy shrine near his home for a celebration of Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven. As the statue of Mary was carried through the crowd, he was convinced it was his departed mother, come back for him. This devotion to her, became devotion to Mary; and his motto is not directed at God, but mother Mary.

On May 13th 1917 the virgin Mary appeared to three shepherd girls in Fatima, Portugal. She reappeared on the 13th of each month until October. Her final visit was as a blazing apparition, even blotting out the sun. And it was before an assembled multitude of some seventy-thousand. All there saw her. She spoke three messages. In one, she gave an ultimatum to the Pope, that if the entire nation of Russia was not consecrated to her by the year 1960, she would bring severe retribution to the whole planet. No Pope ever reached out to Russia, and it is not Catholic. It must be noted, that it was the Jesuits of Fatima who interpreted Mary's message, conveniently. May 13th is now the official Catholic feast - "The Day of Mary, Our Lady of Fatima".

The Jesuits repeatedly warn that the earth needs now be "on watch" for imminent global chaos....

"It will be an event that will fission human history, splitting the immediate past from the coming future. It will be an event on public view in the skies, in the oceans, and on the continental land masses of this planet. It will particularly involve our human sun, which every day lights up and shines upon the valleys, the mountains, and the planes of the earth for our eyes. But on the day of this event, it will not appear merely as the master star of our so-called solar system. Rather, it will be seen as the circumambient glory of the woman."

(The Keys of This Blood - by Jesuit Malachi Martin - p.639*)

*note the page number

The event heralded as "the retribution of Mary" will bring with it utter chaos; and a general blinding of the human mind. Jesuit Martin writes...

"(the event) will start unexpectedly and be accomplished by overall confusion of minds and darkening of the human understanding."
(The Keys of This Blood - by Jesuit Malachi Martin - p.657)

Awareness of the esoteric phenomenon is not the province of the Jesuits alone. Journalist Ted Flynn writes this in Newsweek Magazine...

"They foresee a supernatural warning, the world's greatest miracle, followed by three days of darkness they call 'the great chastisement'. I am amazed more people don't know about it."
(Newsweek Magazine - August 25, 1997 - article by Ted Flynn - p.53)

The Catholic Church publishes a quarterly booklet entitled "The Fatima Crusader" produced for the veneration of Mary. In an article called "The Calm Before the Storm" the faithful are reminded...

"We must remember that Our Lady did say, and She meant it and it will take place: In the end, My Immaculate Heart will triumph, the Holy Father will consecrate Russia to Me, Russia will be converted and a period of peace will be given to mankind. That is Her prophecy, that is Her prediction. It hasn't taken place yet but it will... In the end She will win. Not only will she win, but Russia will become Catholic; not just agnostic, or less militant, but militantly Catholic."
(The Fatima Crusader - Issue 56 - Winter 1998 - p.3)

In another article in the same publication called "Prophetic Dream For Our Time" we are told what will happen after Mary's triumph in Russia. This is code, once again; but for those with eyes to see, it is most illuminating....

"Iniquity is consummated; sin has come to an end, and before two full moons of the month of flowers have passed, the rainbow of peace will appear over the earth."
(The Fatima Crusader - Issue 56 - Winter 1998 - p.28)

Here's the code:

- * "iniquity" and "sin" is really "opposition"
- * "two full moons of the month of flowers" is really "two years ending by May 13th of the second year"
- * "the rainbow of peace" is really "the grip of antichrist"
- * "Mary" is really "Lucifer"
- * "the Holy Father" or "Pope" is really "Rome" which is really "Babylon"

In his heavily encoded epic work, "The Keys of This Blood", Jesuit Malachi Martin discloses that Rome will once again rise and brutally crush all opposition to it.

I said that the "rainbow of peace" is actually the grip of antichrist. But it will appear, I believe, with the accompaniment of a literally observable giant rainbow in the heavens.

Many prophecied events are fulfilled in more than one way, and/or one time.

In what might appear as breaking a promise, I am going to change the terms "Good" and "Evil". It is my belief that "Good" is "God", and "Evil" is "satan". But I'll go one notch higher. I also believe, through long study, that God has a special, personal name; and that is "YHWH" (pronounced "yaw-way"). Another paper details the grounds for my contention. So from here on I will forego "Good" and "Evil", and use "YHWH" and "satan" - or "Lucifer" (his original name before his expulsion from heaven, and the name his followers use).

In the three special chapters of the Bible (dealing with end-time prophecy) I spoke of earlier, YHWH gave two of His prophets, Daniel and John, a vision of four final world Empires. There were seven in all, but the final four are the most significant. Daniel was a captive of the Babylonian Empire, and John a captive of the Roman Empire (as an exile to the island of Patmos). Five-hundred years, and three world Empires separated these two men, but their message was the same. Both saw "the beast" rise up from "the great sea" (Daniel 7:2 and Revelation 17:7). The word "sea" can be taken literally (the only great sea known then was the Mediterranean, which surrounded Rome); or it can be taken figuratively (used to denote a great population; and the largest concentration at that time was Rome). Either interpretation equals Rome. The Roman beast had "seven heads" (Revelation 13:1)...

"Here is the mind which has wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountains on which the woman sits. AND they are seven kings; five have fallen, one is, the other has not yet come."
(Revelation 17:9,10)

The "woman" (the counterfeit church) has seven heads which identify her in two ways: first, they are seven "mountains" on which she sits. Rome has always been referred to as "the City on the seven hills". These hills are: Aventine, Caelian, Capitoline, Esquiline, Palatine, Quirinal, and Viminal. The word "mountain" is used prophetically to denote a "nation", or "empire". Rome sits on the seven world Empires, because each successive one swallowed the one previous which it conquered; incorporating portions of its religion and culture. The final one (Rome) devoured them all, and is the incorporation of them all.

But the seven heads are also seven "kings". This too is unmistakably Rome. Rome had seven Emperors. At the time John penned the Revelation, five of these Emperors had fallen (died): Julius Caesar, Tiberius, Caligula, Cladius, and Nero; one "is" (current Emperor): Domitian; and one has not yet come: satan incarnated as antichrist.

The next thing to note is the "ten horns" the beast possesses (Revelation 13:1 and 17:7). What are these?...

"And the ten horns which you saw are ten kings, who have not yet received a kingdom, but they receive authority as kings with the beast for one hour. These have one purpose and they give their power and authority to the beast."
(Revelation 17:12)

When Pagan Rome fell, it broke into ten fragments. They remained as separate fragmented territories, without kings. These, however, reunited to form Papal Rome. They gave their power and authority to the little horn which Daniel saw in his vision (Daniel 7:8). The Vatican (the centre of Rome set apart for the headquarters of the Roman Catholic Church) grew in the midst of the ten horns, becoming stouter, stronger than them all. And this is the first fulfilment of the ten-horn prophecy. There have been others. A recent one was the formation of the European Community (precursor to the European Union), a joining of ten countries, Italy being one of them (hence, the Vatican). Italy may seem a surprising member, because it has little economic, political, or military clout. But it contains Rome. The European Union spawned by the European Community may well be the instrument used to fulfil the prophesied collapse of the American economy. We'll have to wait to see.

Now, let's put an even finer point on our identification. The Bible tells us more about the little horn...

"In this horn were eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth speaking great things."
(Daniel 7:8)

"And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies... And he opened his mouth in blasphemy against God, to blaspheme His name."
(Revelation 13:5,6)

The little horn had "eyes like a man's". The word "eyes" here is the Greek word "ayin". It means "outward appearance". When you think of the Vatican, do you think of God? No, the Pope, a man, is what immediately comes to mind. The Pontiff is the personification of the Vatican in the eyes of the whole world. The little horn will also "speak great things and blasphemies". The word "great" in Daniel 7:8 is the Chaldee word "rabrab", meaning "domineering". And the blasphemies are specified as: Church of Rome is a power which has dominated over a billion people now, worldwide for centuries; and dominated the hierarchy of world decision makers. As for the blasphemies, it was Papal Rome which removed the true sacred name of God ("YHWH") from canonical use (a separate paper).

And now, a most interesting, even amazing way to identify the end-time beast...

"And he shall speak great words against the Most High, and shall wear out the saints of the Most High, and think to change times and laws: and they shall be given into his hands until a time, and times, and the dividing of times."
(Daniel 7:25)

Papal Rome domineered the dispensing of God's Word for centuries. It also wore out the saints through torture and execution. It "changes times", by eradicating the sacred lunar calendar, and inventing the solar Julian calendar; and it did away with the sacred Feast Days of YHWH, substituting its own Pagan-mixed feast days. It also "changed laws", morphing YHWH's laws to their advantage.

But this passage also reveals a coded time-window within which the saints of YHWH will be brutally persecuted for the final time. This space will be "a time" plus "times", plus "the dividing of times". The word "time" used in this Scripture is the Hebrew word "iddan". It means "year". So "a time" equals one year; "times" always means "two years" in Scripture, not simply plural years; and "the dividing of times" is "one half-year", never any other fraction. That is therefore: 1 year plus 2 years plus one-half year - equals 3½ years. Since the sacred year is 360 days in length; this period is 1,260 days. But the Bible makes it very clear that prophetically speaking, a "day" can be 1,000 years (IIPeter 3:8). Therefore, the 1,260 days can be literal, or figurative for 1,260 years, or both.

Let's assume for a moment that we are looking at the 1,260 year scenario. The year Rome received its "deadly wound" (the imprisonment of the Pope) was 1798. Count back 1,260 Roman years (this is to do with Rome) and you come to the year 538. It was in 538 that the Pope was officially recognized as both Head of the Church, and Head of State... the birth of Papal Rome. So from its birth, to its "wound as unto death" was a time, and times, and the dividing of times". With what we have seen, can there be any credible doubt as to the identity of the fourth beast? I think not.

We notice also that "the woman" sits upon this beast system. The woman is the hierarchy of the Roman Church; and the beast she pilots is the machinery of that institution. But John the revelator now sees another beast...

"And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth;
and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon.
And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed."
(Revelation 13:11,12)

Another beast rears its ugly head. This one comes up out of the earth, rather than the sea (as the first beast did). I believe this to be the False Prophet. But the False Prophet is not necessarily an individual man. I think it could well be a national power. If that possibility proves correct, it would be a multi-cultural nation ("coming up out of the earth") made up of several national groups. This nation would have had a gentle (lamb-like) beginning, and a noble liberating purpose. But as time went on, this nation changed; and began speaking (making rules and threats) like a dragon. It would speak lies, but make them sound like truths; a daragon in lamb's clothing, if you will. This morphed beast exercises power; but not its own power; rather, that which it receives from the first beast. It operates as a promotional agent of Papal Rome. The False Prophet's mandate is to compel the whole world to worship according to the dictates of the antichrist beast.

The apostle John sees the second beast rising immediately after the first beast receives its deadly wound. That was in 1798.

The most prolific writer in the world for Illuminist Freemasonry died on August 7th, 1990. His name was Manly P. Hall. Mr. Hall was a 33rd degree Freemason, and a genius. In its Journal, the Scottish Rite 33rd Degree Council wrote an obituary for Manly P. Hall. They called him "Masonry's greatest philosopher". "The Secret Teachings of All Ages" was one of many books written by Mr. Hall. In it he writes...

"Not only were many of the founders of the United States government Masons, but they received aid from a secret and august body existing in Europe which helped them to establish this country for a particular purpose known only to the initiated few. The Great Seal is the signature of this exalted body and the unfinished pyramid upon its reverse is a trestle board setting forth symbolically the task to the accomplishment of which the United States government was dedicated from the day of its inception."

(The Secret Teachings of All Ages - by Manly P. Hall - p.91)

I read a most fascinating account of the American Revolution some years ago. It reveals, to my complete satisfaction at least, that there was indeed "a secret and august body" orchestrating, from Europe, the severing of the American Colonies from England, in order to establish the United States of America for an evil purpose. That secret and august body was The Society of Jesus, the Jesuits.

Mr. Hall's reference to the Great Seal of the United States is most revealing. The U.S.A. has the only official seal in the world with two-sides. It's a "two-faced" seal, representing two faces: lamb; then dragon. The obverse bears the American eagle; this is the side shown to the world. But shown to those behind the scenes at the same moment, is the seal of the Society of Jesus, from its beginning. It depicts the 13-stone unfinished pyramid; with its capstone (the stone necessary for completion) floating above it. In the medial space is the "eye"; the eye the masses believe to be the eye of God, looking after the land. Wrong! It's the all-seeing eye of Horus, the Egyptian sun-god, the god of illumination... and that's Lucifer!

The United States sprang forth as a mighty nation on the heels of the Roman beast receiving its deadly wound. Could it be that the temporary death of the first beast fed the rise of the second? And could the second beast, rising from the nations of the earth as a place of refuge and peace for the masses, like a gentle lamb; but receiving its funding, direction, and power from Rome's strike-force, the Jesuits; be the False Prophet spoken of in the Revelation? Is this speculation? Yes, perhaps; but not for long. Is it ludicrous speculation? On the contrary; it is the most probable conclusion to draw from the evidence. Has the lamb-looking nation begun to speak as a dragon yet? For many decades America has, because of its enormous clout, forced more change and policy upon other, weaker nations, than could be catalogued in less than a thousand pages. And its illegal declaration of war on "evil enemies" (so deemed by them), beginning with Iraq, and what was necessary for it to do to accomplish that position, has dragon claw-prints and smoke stains all over it. Not only that, it will morph into the long-planned World War III.

Given all this, just what should we be watching?... the European Union, the Vatican, the United Nations, Communism, hidden Communism, the U.S.A., or what? That's like asking whether we should watch the beast's teeth, his claws, the fire he breathes... or perhaps... his MIRACLES?...

"AND HE DOETH GREAT WONDERS, SO THAT HE MAKETH FIRE
COME DOWN FROM THE HEAVEN ON EARTH IN THE SIGHT OF MEN.
AND HE DECEIVETH THEM THAT DWELL ON THE EARTH BY MEANS OF THOSE MIRACLES WHICH HE HATH POWER TO DO."
(Revelation 13:13,14)

Take this Scripture, and combine it with what we learned about the Fatima miracles and the coming "retribution of Mary". The National Aeronautics and Space Administration ("NASA") has in the past ten years sent satellites into earth orbit which have enormous holographic capabilities. More recently, highly advanced improvements and augmentations have been carried out. They claim these are for military and defense purposes, as well as meteorological advantages. At some point, the information disclosed in these pages will begin to gel. The apparitions seen in Fatima, Portugal were not pipe-dreams. The three shepherd girls were not lying; nor were the growing thousands who saw it afterwards. These were satanic miracles; accomplished legally by the power delivered unto Evil by Good. But now, Evil has technology on his side as well. Could the retribution of the Queen of Heaven be a giant holograph of her raining down in fire; visible to the whole world? Could the fire be from a nuclear missile aimed at the sun? Could Mary be able to speak words by the aid of giant satellite speakers? And how about this? The space-station work has been completed. The missions are near their end. Could it be possible that the suspension of all air traffic in May 2010 over the north Atlantic, and Europe, because a volcanic eruption in Iceland made it unsafe (even though visibility was fine), and for many days, was to clear that area from the view of any high-altitude pilots and passengers, so the holographic equipment could be tested in secret? Again, speculation for sure; but with a healthy dash of realistic likelihood...

"Men's hearts will fail them for fear, looking at those things which are coming down on the earth, for the powers of the heavens shall be shaken."
(Luke 21:26)

The word "coming" in this Scripture is a Greek word meaning "to supervene, as by attack". YHWH will "shake the heavens" (Haggai 2:6,21) as He said; but perhaps a Deceiver will try to beat Him to it, in order to elicit total obedience through total fear. Something to think about.

Well, as I read over these pages, I'd have to say that Uncle Bob was right. At least that's how I see it, but that's just me; and reactions to this will be mixed. Most will see this as fear mongering, or just a collection of twistings from a sensationalist. Others will become frightened; but not to the point of anything but seeing another reason to keep the covers over their head. There will, I believe, be a few who have had eyes to see all along; and take this as a way to assemble the various ingredients they've had on the shelf. The words from this point are for these.

I entitled this paper, "Too Big To Fight", simply because it is. There are many citizens of the world who know something is completely rotten, and smelling worse by the day. There are calls for good people to rise up and demand their rights. Their fervor may be admirable, but their expectations will be vapour. This is no longer a matter of which side has more clubs and pitchforks in the air. A prophecied fact, is an inalterable fact; this IS too big to fight!

So do we all just say "die", and wait for it to hit? Absolutely not. The name of the game is not fighting, but protection. And the Bible is a Book written to, written for, and written about a few people for whom protection is available. If you are one of YHWH's offspring, mentioned in the first few pages of this paper, your Father has provided a means of miraculous protection during the times ahead. And such times they will be...

"For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be."
(Matthew 24:21)

"A day of darkness and of gloominess, a day of clouds and of thick darkness, as the morning spread upon the mountains: a great people and a strong; there hath not been ever the like, neither shall be any more after it, even to the years of many generations."
(Joel 2:2)

"And at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince, which standeth for the children of Thy people: and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time; and at that time Thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book."
(Daniel 12:1)

Three witnesses to the same coming events. Clubs, pitchforks, even guns will not save you from these events. Many so-called "Christians" take comfort from the Bible's assurance that we have not been "appointed unto wrath" (I Timothy 5:9). But no comfort is available in the way they interpret this. We are not appointed unto the wrath of YHWH, that's true; but this is the wrath of satan, and it is aimed fully at us alone.

There are two Bible assurances, however, from which we may, even must take our comfort. The first is in the Old Testament; it is the 91st Psalm. You need to read it in your Bible. I recommend you memorize it. It speaks of divine protection amid the destruction and chaos bathing the planet. There is a key in this Psalm...

"Because he (the child of YHWH) has set his love upon Me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high BECAUSE HE HATH KNOWN MY NAME."
(Psalm 91:14)

The second assurance, also from the Old Testament, tells of a mighty and safe fortress, within which is the only refuge available to the child of YHWH. This assurance holds the same key as the first...

"THE NAME YHWH is a strong tower, the righteous runs into it,
(Proverb 18:10)

The greatest and by far most successful of satan's deceptions is the removal of the true sacred name of the Creator from before the eyes of His offspring; then the presentation of false names, which they have accepted, used exclusively, and would defend with their life. I have prepared a paper detailing why I make this claim. Request a copy, if interested.

In short, without the name YHWH (YaHWeH) in you mind and heart, and spoken from your mouth, you are on your own. False names will always appear to be successful, but that's only because satan has used the power delivered unto him, to make things happen in response to their use. That way he can prevent us from feeling the need to search out another name. But in the coming tribulation on earth, the false names will get you nothing but satan's hearty laugh.

The coming calamity is the final move of the terrible game. Those who endure to the end will find themselves in a place of peace, serenity, and unspeakable joy, never ending. Scary words indeed have taken us along history to what must shortly come to pass. Thank you for sticking with it.
